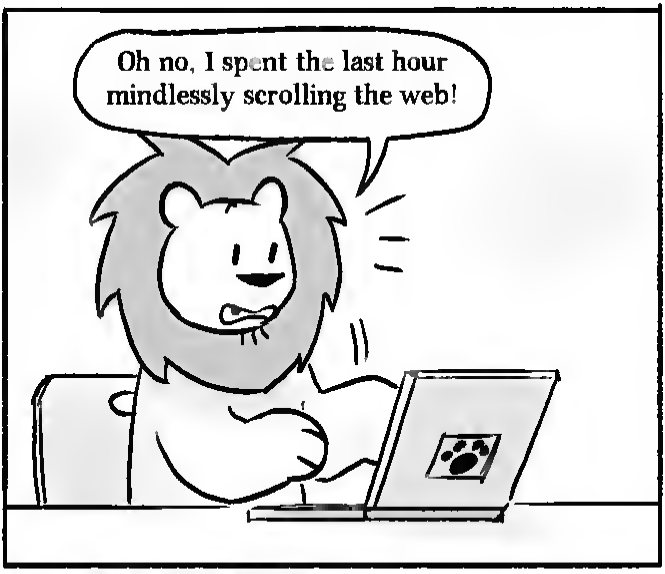
RINGGGG
6:00 AM
Rise and shine!

How is that even possible?
This guy is crazy!
But we all have the same 24 hours a day.
I'm sure he either has super speed, or he travels back in time to do everything!
I say he's really smart and has good time management.

Tip#3

Use fragment time to finish less important things

They are also known as the white-throated bear and moon bear because of their white mark on the chest!



Oh no, I spent the last hour mindlessly scrolling the web!

What should I do for the next hour...
...okay, let's keep reading!

Life is short, use your time wisely
Young entrepreneur shares his experience
Started business at 24, climbed half of the world's 10 tallest mountains, certified pilot and diving coach, been to 50 countries, know 7 languages...

Tip #2

Use commute time to do simple tasks

Note:

Use your time wisely,
but going extremes is never a good idea.

I can't believe you abandoned your time management plan after just one day.
I can't do it... it's too tiring...

How's our next interview article going?
Tortis just proofread it this morning.

Have a look.
This guy is pretty amazing.
